

As students grow in an ever-digital world, how can we keep the love of books alive?

We at SCPS are committed to developing a love of reading and writing among all students at school. The greatest challenge that we encounter as educators is to sustain a love and appreciation for print books among this uniquely wired generation. Sarah Brennan might just have a fix for this...

Originally from Tasmania, Sarah has lived in Hong Kong for the past two decades and shares our passion for nurturing the next generation of literary lovers. Sarah's books have been nominated for numerous awards, including the Prime Minister's Literary Awards in her native Australia and the UK's prestigious Kate Greenaway medal, among many others.

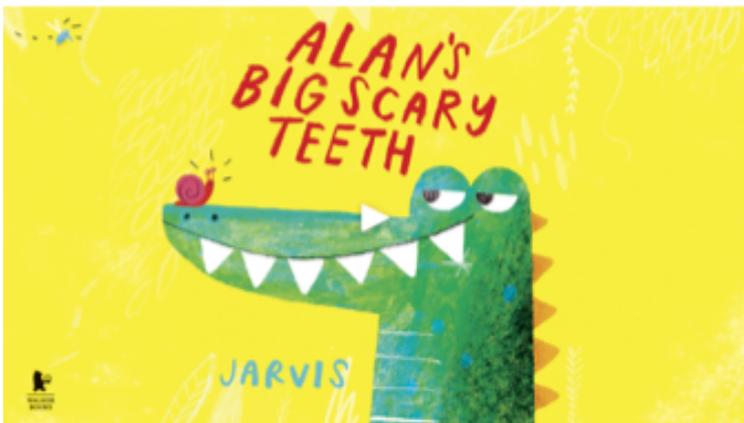

Sarah will be visiting our school on Tuesday, 7th May 2019 and conducting a writing workshop for our P.4 – P.6 students. In this workshop she will be sharing her passion for reading and writing with our students while equipping them with practical strategies for becoming better writers. We eagerly look forward to Sarah's visit...

Author Visit - June 2019

Once upon a time, a guy decided to become a picture book maker. He tried really hard and even learnt how to do colouring in, and after meeting a whole load of really amazing characters he got to make some books.

These are the ongoing adventures of Jarvis. Will he run out of ideas? Will he forget his pencil? Will children actually read any of his books? Will there be a happy ending?

Jarvis will visit our school on Tuesday, 18th June 2019, and conduct a reading session for students from P.1 – P.3 and a writing workshop for P.3 students. We eagerly look forward to Jarvis' visit...
