

A Diary Entry

14th August, 2024

Dear Diary,

Today I flew to the UK with Mum to visit Aunt Sally, who moved to Britain a few years ago. I was so excited to see my favorite aunt. I almost forgot to pack my passport and ID card! Luckily, Mum reminded me before we left our house. When we arrived at the airport, we checked in our luggage and went through the immigration hall, and we finally arrived at the boarding gate. We boarded the plane not long after we arrived there. Mum slept all the way on the plane to the UK and I played some video games. I was glad I had something to do, or I would be bored all the way!

We got off the plane after so many hours. We showed our passports and took back our baggage, then went to the Arrivals Hall. We put our suitcases on a trolley as I was too tired to carry all the bags and luggage. I saw Aunt Sally, but Mum didn't recognise her! Aunt Sally changed her long straight hair to short curly hair, and she also put on a lot of makeup. Mum kept walking, and I was saying, "Hello! Mum! Mum? Aunt Sally's here!" However, Mum was so busy humming her favourite song she didn't hear me. I had to use my phone to call her. Aunt Sally thought I was a lost stranger because I looked more mature than I was a few years ago. She asked, "Where is your mother?" I told her that I was her niece, and at that time Mum was running back to me. When she found out what had happened, we laughed and laughed until we had a stomachache!

I am going to bed now so that I can have enough energy to play tomorrow. A fun holiday awaits!

(Mavis Lai_6D)