

Letter to a friend

Dear Tony,

How are you? I've missed you! Are you free this Saturday? Maybe we could play together! Last Sunday, I had a terrible accident, it all started like this...

I was coming home from the mall and I was listening to an exciting song, it's called "Rainbows". You should listen to it too! Anyway, I didn't see where I was going so I almost hit on a street light. A couple came by and a man told me to watch out, but I didn't hear over the sound of the song, so I hit my head against the street light and passed out.

When I woke up, I saw myself lying on my bed at home. I saw my parents thanking the couple for saving me. When my parents saw me wake up, they were overjoyed. The couple had dinner with us, then we said thank you again and kept in contact before they left.

The accident was horrible, wasn't it? But don't worry, I'm alright now! Anyway, see you this Saturday, talk soon!

Love,

Benny
